Hi - Could the following be shared with [Redacted] please and can I have his advice for how to continue...

I am attaching my most recent blood tests.
My PSA was last tested on Nov 29 - and it is now at 3.6

So in terms of PSA - first test that led to MRI and biopdy : May 2025 - 11.8,
Biopsy in July - Gleason 7 - 3+4
PSA tested again september 9th : 4.6,
PDA tested november 29th : 3.6.

I have been following [Redacted] protocol though not exactly as noted in the protocol sent to me in September because I sometimes felt my body was overwhelmed with the changes it was going through (have, along with the protocol given by [Redacted] changed my diet to remove sugar, most carbs, dairy, alcohol and have cut down significantly on meat intake. I have also been exercising three times a week since september).

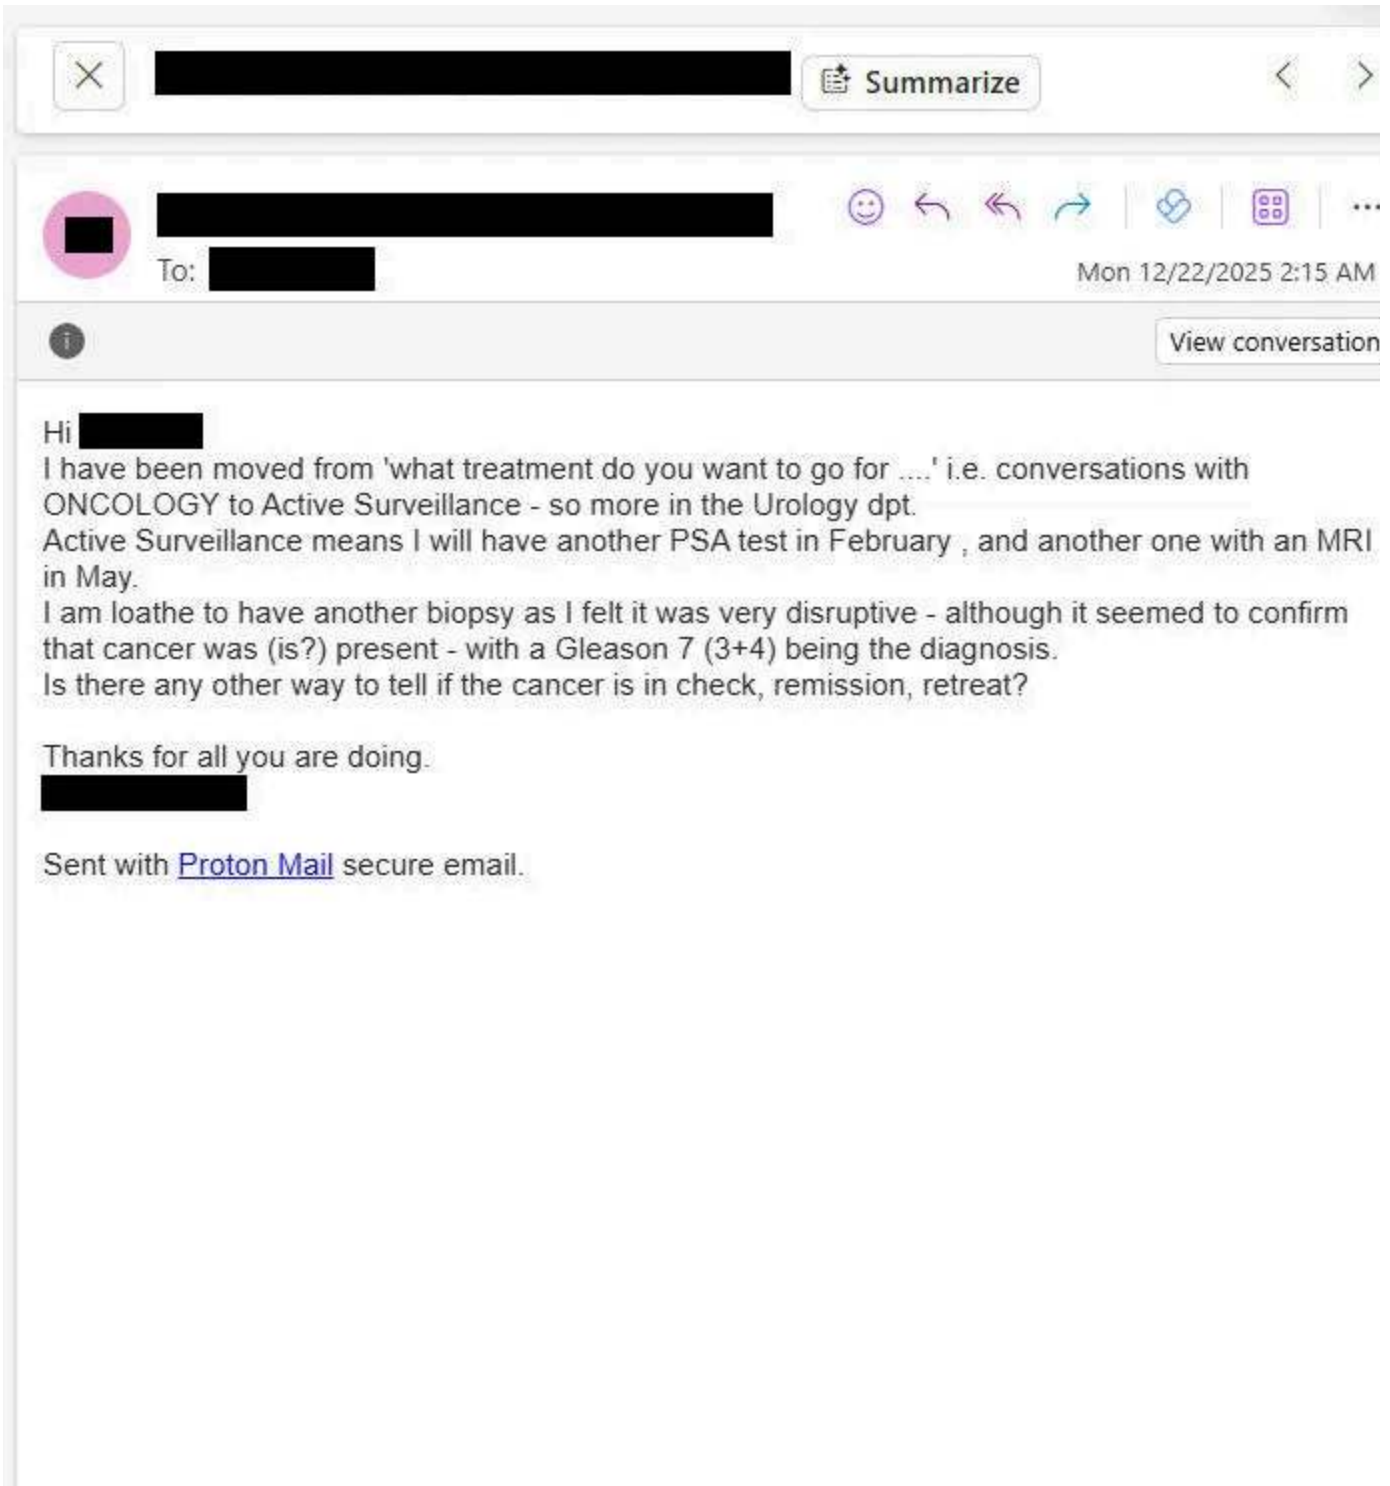

I have been taking 444mg of Fenbendazole daily and 48 mg Ivermectin and following the other recommendations on [Redacted] protocol.

I completed one round of Iscador Mistletoe (Quercus) treatment a week or so ago which I did alongside the [Redacted] Protocol.

I am now on Active Surveillance with the NHS - next PSA in february, and an MRI in May.

Could I have [Redacted] advice please - continue? alter dosage? change anything in the protocol?
Thanks

KEY POINTS:

56 year old UK man was diagnosed with Early Stage Prostate Cancer in August 2020 with PSA 11.8, and Gleason 7. He was offered surgery and radiation.

In September 2025 he started Ivermectin and Fenbendazole and IV Mistletoe therapy.

Results after 3 months:

- PSA dropped 11.8 to 3.6
- Surgery and radiation therapy cancelled, back to surveillance.

Nice work Dr. Makis, MD! I like to include MD since Canada forbids it. MD MD MD MD!!

Mistletoe is another curative natural ingredient the cancer cartel keeps from us: " In the United S mistletoe is not approved for medical use by the FDA, and injectable forms are only available in c trials".
